

THE MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY AND PLANETARIUM IN ROGER WILLIAMS PARK IS PLEASED TO PRESENT:

MNH Bird Walks: Exploring Providence

Winter in Providence:

Explore the diversity of resident and migrant birds that inhabit Roger Williams Park when it is enshrouded in winter's still embrace. Great blue herons, buffleheads, mergansers and goldeneye stay as long as there is open water. We'll also look for kinglets, cedar waxwings, yellow-rumped warblers, and much more.

Programs Offered:

Sat., January 2, 2010 at 9:00 AM
Sat., February 27, 2010 at 9:00 AM

Spring in Providence:

Join us as we explore Roger Williams Park for colorful spring migrants as they arrive from their wintering grounds. It's probable that we will see and hear wood ducks, orioles, gnatcatchers, and early spring warblers. We may also encounter some of the other residents of the park such as deer and fisher.

Programs Offered:

Sat., March 20, 2010 at 9:00 AM
Sat., April 17, 2010 at 9:00 AM

Prices per trip:

Families: $5.00
Museum Members: Free
(No one under age 4 permitted)
